"Life As We Don't Know It"

The Wisconsin Institute for Discovery is seeking undergraduate student artists to be featured in an art-science fusion project culminating in the Spring of 2022. Artists will collaborate with scientists across disciplines to imagine what alien life might look like on planets beyond Earth and create art pieces for display in a gallery. This is a paid opportunity and candidates will be selected based on an application and brief interview. Work in any medium will be considered, and artists at all experience levels are encouraged to apply.

Deadline to apply: March 5, 2021 5pm CST
